Josh Cross

Gallatin, TN

Josh Cross is a proud lifelong resident of Gallatin, Tennessee and graduate of Station Camp High School. He holds a bachelor's degree in mass communication from Middle Tennessee State University.

For nearly a decade working as a journalist covering Gallatin and Sumner County, Mr. Cross became familiar with local solid waste issues in relation to the Resource Authority of Sumner County and Capp's Gap landfill. He later spent three years working for the Tennessee House of Representatives where he gained a broader perspective of the challenges facing other communities across Tennessee, including the Middle Point Landfill in Rutherford County and efforts to protect the Duck River in Maury County. Through his most recent work in economic development, Mr. Cross has seen the increasing need for developing a comprehensive plan to address not only municipal solid waste (MSW), but construction and demolition (C&D) debris as well.

Mr. Cross is eager to serve on the Solid Waste Board to help ensure Gallatin and Sumner County remain well positioned and prosperous for future generations of families and businesses.

Subject: [EXTERNAL]Music City Executive Airport Authority-Committee on Committees

Good Afternoon,
I am reaching out to the committee on committees to request that my county appointed position on the Music City Executive Airport Authority (MCEAA) be renewed for another term.

I am currently serving as the treasurer for the MCEAA.
As most of you know we have major capital improvement & infrastructure projects in process at the airport.
Music City Executive Airport (MCEA) was designated a national airport in 2025 and is only one of three airports across the state of Tennessee with that designation.
Many municipal and regional airports within the middle Tennessee region are experiencing growth, however the growth happening at MCEA is unique.
Why is it unique?
Certainly, our proximity to Nashville is a key component. The runway at MCEA is the 3rd longest in the region allowing some of your largest/heaviest jets to land at the airport.
John C. Tune and Smyrna airports are the only other airports in our region that have that national airport distinction and runways long enough to hold larger sized aircraft.
MCEA has two fixed based operators (FBO) offering private jet services, aircraft sales, airplane fueling services, aircraft maintenance & storage for aircraft.
We also have a strong general aviation community, flight schools and an experimental aircraft association utilizing MCEA.

I am not a pilot. My background & experience in the commercial banking space is being utilized from a finance perspective at the airport. We have modernized many systems/processes on the accounting side for risk controls, cash flow analysis & payments.
These updates have created improved efficiencies, which is very important as we are growing at a swift pace.

I am proud to serve the Music City Executive Airport with some amazing Sumner County citizens as we all bring different areas of expertise to the table.

I have updated and attached an abbreviated résumé for your review. Please, if you have any questions regarding my request for reappointment reach out to me directly. I can be contacted at 615-516-4770 or by email at dbcasey@firsthorizon.com.

Thank you and I look forward to meeting you in person at the committee on committees meeting on the 29th.

Sincerely,

Daisy Casey
